Coal Strike Continuation May Speed Senate Action

Seek Speedy Senate Action On President's Strike Emergency Bill

(BULLETIN)
WASHINGTON, May 27.—(INS)—Senate Majority Leader Barkley conferred with President Truman on the labor crisis today and promptly proceeded with plans for another night session of the Senate to speed enactment of the administration's anti-strike bill.
Barkley said following his White House conference that the soft coal strike situation "looked hopeful".
A battle over the President's bill was assured when the Republican steering committee agreed at a morning session that the anti-strike measure should be "substantially amended".

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(INS)—Renewal of the soft coal crisis gave administration leaders a new reason today for demanding immediate senate action on President Truman's emergency bill.
The house-approved legislation was made the senate's pending business. A bi-partisan bloc urged delay on the ground that settlement of the railroad strike late Saturday had removed the need for such drastic action.

But overnight failure to achieve a settlement in the bituminous coal dispute, with uncertainty on whether miners would remain in the pits today, promptly put the labor legislation in a new light.
The tension in Capitol Hill was increased by reports that army troops had been assigned to protect mines in Kentucky and that others had been alerted for possible use in Pennsylvania.

Most Ruthless Leader
Sen. Byrd (D) Va., declared that President Truman "should be armed with all powers necessary to control John L. Lewis," whom he labeled "the most arrogant and ruthless labor leader in America."
Administration henchmen believed that Mr. Truman's bill applying criminal penalties and army induction to persons who strike against the government would pass the senate. The only question when the upper chamber recessed late Saturday night was "how soon".

PA NEW OBSERVES

An auto was parked on North Mercer street on Sunday that had a green license plate on the front of the car marked "Pennsylvania 1913".

Pa News has noted quite a few out of town truckers and motorists becoming quite confused going east on East Washington street as they approach the County Line intersection. Route 422 is not marked very plainly at that point and many think perhaps 422 leads up County Line street instead of East Washington street.

Incessant rains over the week end put a crimp in all athletic contests that were scheduled in the city on Sunday.

Few Coal Mines Are Operating

Miners Remain At Home Despite Action Of U. S. Mine Seizures

PITTSBURGH, May 27.—(INS)—Bituminous miners in the eight heavy producing states today ignored President Truman's executive order seizing the pits and remained at home despite the threat of being drafted in the Army.
Byron Canon, executive secretary of the Western Pennsylvania Coal Producers Association, said less than 10,000 of the nation's 400,000 soft coal diggers were working in the government operated mines.
Only one deep and a few strip mines were operating in West Virginia. In Pennsylvania about 15 strip mines resumed operations; Ohio reported all of its bituminous mines down. The Pond mine at Madisonville, Ky., was operating under the protection of troops. The majority of mines were down in Illinois, Indiana, Tennessee and Alabama.

Canon said that many Pennsylvania strip mines opened this morning but during the midst of operations the miners laid down their tools and walked off the job.
Meanwhile, army and naval authorities in the eight states were standing by for any eventuality.

Eighth Fleet Is Returning To New York

ABOARD CARRIER ROOSEVELT, OFF NEW YORK, May 27.—(INS)—Admiral Marc A. Mitscher's Eighth fleet was entering New York harbor today after chalking up a world naval safety record during six weeks of maneuvers.
Some of the fleet's supply vessels already lay at anchor as the fighting ships moved toward their moorings in the North river.
More than 5,000 take-offs and an equal number of landings were made on the five carriers since April 19. Only two pilots were lost in the large scale operation.
The guns of the 29 ships were fired thousands of times without an accident—except for one sailor who was hurt falling off a platform.
This included everything from the 16-inch weapons of the Battleship Missouri to the hundreds of 20-millimeter anti-aircraft weapons.
Admiral Mitscher said he didn't think carriers were likely to be proved obsolete in the near future, but that, at any rate, his job was to keep them at top efficiency. He said atom bombs could be launched from carriers as well as from the plane.

Record Rainfall For May Indicated

Over Three Inches Of Rain Falls During 48-Hour Period Over Week End, Records Show
All precipitation records for any given month are likely to go by the board, as the result of the abnormal amount of rain which has fallen during the month of May, the statistics compiled by Baxter F. Johnson, U. S. weather observer here indicate.
The unusually heavy rains so far this month were climaxed by several cloudbursts over the week end, when 3.20 inches fell. Between 6 and 7 o'clock Sunday evening, 1.18 inches fell in one heavy downpour, and there was also another heavy rain about 3 o'clock Sunday morning.
More rain fell in one day on Saturday and Sunday, than was recorded during the entire month of April which was probably the driest April on record.
At 9 o'clock this morning, the total precipitation for the month stood at 7.31 inches, and it was still raining at 10:30 o'clock with no cessation in sight at that hour.
The normal amount of rain which falls during May is 3.57 inches, the total thus being more than double the normal amount. The heavy downpours swelled local streams into raging torrents, and considerable damage was done to dirt streets and hillsides.

Warehouse Strike Ends In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, May 27.—(INS)—A threatened food shortage in Pittsburgh was averted today when approximately 250 striking AFL grocery and warehousemen voted to end a 16 day strike at four major food storage plants.
The workers agreed to accept a proposal forwarded by Mayor David L. Lawrence who stepped into the dispute last Friday.
Warehouse employees were granted a 22 1/2 cent hourly increase and ice plant workers 15 cents.
With the settlement of the strike, 21,000 tons of food-stuffs were released from the storage plants. An additional 30 carloads of fruit and vegetables were unloaded yesterday and 225 carloads were scheduled to be handled today.

THE HAGUE, May 27.—(INS)—Queen Wilhelmina today commissioned Dr. L. J. M. Beel, Catholic People's party leader, to form a new Dutch government.
Beel was minister of home affairs in the labor cabinet of Willem Schermerhorn.
Although the People's party won a plurality in the elections May 19, more than a week was required to determine the successor to Schermerhorn. In the meantime the Schermerhorn cabinet functioned as a temporary cabinet.

President Directs Government Power Against Coal Strikes

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(INS)—President Truman directed the full power of the government against the coal strike today with the army ready to protect operation of the federally-seized mines.
Troops moved into the bituminous fields under the president's orders when a detachment of 150 men was sent to Madisonville, Ky., to guard miners who wished to work for Uncle Sam.
Other military units were alerted at the Aberdeen (Md.) proving grounds for possible emergency duty in the Appalachian area.
The great question facing the government and the nation was how many of the 400,000 miners who struck under the leadership of John L. Lewis will return to work.

Water Service Is Rained Out

Bad Weather Prevents Memorial Service For Men Who Lost Their Lives At Sea

MEMORIAL HELD AT METHODIST CHURCH
Although inclement weather has threatened the annual water service, conducted by the Ladies of the G. A. R. on several occasions in the past, it has never prevented its holding, until Sunday evening, when virtual cloudburst, which occurred at the hour of the service, forced its cancellation.

The annual church memorial service, honoring all veterans who have passed on, was conducted as scheduled, however, in the First Methodist church, with the pastor Rev. Burr R. McKnight, D. D., delivering a sermon appropriate to the occasion, the subject being "Hearts and Flowers".

There was special music by the church quartet, and following the address, John R. Wilson, and Frank Bailey presided while flowers were placed by representatives of the various veterans posts in honor of their dead, particularly those who have passed on during the year.

Decrees Modern Tendency
Dr. McKnight, decried the tendency of modern times to turn this day of memory for those who sacrificed their lives that this might be a great country, into one of celebration and pleasure seeking.

Resume Runs On Pennsy System, P. & L. E. Lines

Pennsylvania and Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroads lost no time getting back into operation locally when the nation-wide strike was declared at an end late Saturday afternoon.
Both roads resumed passenger and freight runs Saturday evening, and today are operating at normal capacity. First Pennsy train on the Erie and Ashtabula division steamed out of Cleveland Saturday night en route to Pittsburgh.
Officials of both railroads pointed out today, however, that passenger runs are still operating under a 25 per cent curtailment put into effect at the beginning of the soft coal strike. This cut in service will continue, it was pointed out, and may even be increased if the strike continues and coal supplies dwindle further.

Government Ends Control Of Railroads

Government Relinquished Control On Sunday After End Of Strike

RAILROADS NEAR NORMAL TODAY

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(INS)—The nation's railroads were back under private ownership today, operating on normal schedules and their labor troubles settled for at least a year.
The final chapter of the settled transportation tieup was written when President Truman returned the 337 roads involved in the short-lived strike to their owners at 4 p. m. EST Sunday.
Defense Transportation Director J. Monroe Johnson who relinquished government control of the carriers, also removed drastic transportation restrictions imposed when the rail strike began.

May Be New Curses
Johnson warned, however, that a continuation of the coal crisis would necessitate new transportation curbs. He said an embargo on freight shipments and a further cut in passenger traffic would be necessary.

Revised were orders setting up priorities for air traffic, giving mail preference over passengers on railroad passenger trains, and establishing an embargo on freight and express.

The way was paved for return of the roads when the carriers conference committee signed an agreement at noon Sunday with the brotherhoods of trainmen and engineers who forced the strike. An agreement before the carriers and the 18 non-operating brotherhoods was signed Saturday night.

Railroads Again Operating

The railroads were given 16 cents an hour pay increase retroactive to Jan. 1, 1946 and an 18 1/2 cent increase starting on May 22, when the government took over the carriers. Demands for a change in railroad operation rules are to be renegotiated in a year.

The railroads were reported moving at full speed and on schedule throughout the country less than 24 hours after ending of the strike which threatened economic collapse.

Asserts Stalin Did Not Give His Approval

MOSCOW, May 27.—(INS)—Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov said today U. S. Secretary of State Byrnes was "incorrect" in stating that Premier Stalin had approved his proposal for a big power, 25-year alliance to safeguard the peace in Japan and Germany. Molotov said that Byrnes could not have had a "beneficial" reaction from Premier Stalin last December—as Byrnes said he did—since in December the American "did not possess even the draft of such a treaty."

Brief Exchange
The foreign minister said that what took place between Byrnes and the Russian leader was only a brief exchange of opinions about an idea for a treaty on mutual assistance.

Senate Committee May Further Alter Price Control Bill

Further Amendments To Measure Are Expected To Get Committee Approval

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(INS)—The senate banking and currency committee was expected today to tear additional holes in the administration's price control program as the OPA bill nears completion. Indications were that the committee would approve amendments directing the OPA to increase prices on manufactured and other articles so as to reflect current costs and a "reasonable" profit.

The committee has already voted to end price controls June 30 on meat, poultry and dairy products. This was even more drastic than action taken earlier by the house, which passed a measure that President Truman said he could not approve.

The house rejected a proposal to end price controls on meat June 30. Administration spokesmen were not optimistic over the chances that the senate would reject the committee action on meat, poultry and dairy products or that the house would not reverse its previous stand.

In that event, consumers can expect an end next month to controls on the three major food commodities and a consequent increase in prices.

Supporters of the committee's action contend that while removal of controls may result in price rises it will increase production and break the black market.

The committee has also approved a 50 per cent cut in government food subsidies, which are designed to hold down consumer prices, but increased the amount voted by the house.

It has also voted to transfer to the secretary of agriculture control over food prices and to establish an independent price decontrol board of three members which would be authorized to terminate price ceilings of any commodity or restore them if necessary.

The president has urged "immediate action" upon congress in approving extension of the price control act. The present act expires June 30 unless extended. The house has voted to continue price controls for nine months, until March 1, 1947, while the senate committee has approved a one-year extension.

by some Republicans, sought delay to permit study and public hearings on the legislation.

The White House bill was cleared for action by the interstate commerce committee in less than an hour's time following Mr. Truman's historic address to congress on Saturday.

Intense Feeling

But so intense was feeling over this routing of the legislation that Sen. Morse (R) Ore., resigned from the labor committee. He joined Sens. Pepper (D) Fla. and Murray (D) Mont., labor chairman, in arguing that the measure should have gone to the labor committee.

Opponents of the White House bill charged that its authority to draft workers and industry officials—violated the constitutional protection against involuntary servitude. The legislation carries power to:

Take criminal action against union leaders who continue a strike after a vital industry has been seized by the government.

Deny strikers to involved their junior rights and other benefits under the Wagner and railway labor acts.

Drafts into the army employees "including officers and executives of the employer," who refuse to return to work for the government within 24 hours after a presidential proclamation.

Enjoin leaders encouraging strikes against the government in the federal courts and assigns to the federal treasury any net profits shown by a seized industry during the period of government operation.

The senate ended an 11 and three-quarter hour session Saturday night by passing the revised Case labor bill on a roll call of 49 to 29 and returning it to the house for approval or reference to a joint conference committee.

Also, it was recommended that the federal government "return to the states and their subdivisions those functions of government that are not of a national character."

In a news conference, Governor Gates mentioned specifically unemployment insurance and public welfare departments, including old age pensions, as being done better by state than federal control.

The governors likewise discussed informally the issue of state bonuses for veterans of World War II. Four Democratic and three Republican governors said they believed that the bonus was a federal issue and not a state problem.

The conference opened in the Oklahoma state capital with Gov. Edward Martin (R) of Pennsylvania presiding, followed by S. Kerr (D) of Oklahoma, the host governor, delivered the address of welcome.

Gov. Maurice J. Tobin (D) of Massachusetts, presided at an executive session this afternoon.

A number of the leading governors of the nation, harassed by strike problems, will not attend the conference. Among them are Govs. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Earl Warren of California and Ellis Arnall of Georgia.

Nearly 1,000 workers were told they must take "enforced" vacations for the entire week. At the Rainey-Wood Coke company, across the Schuylkill river from the Ivy Rock plant, a spokesman said production had been cut 25 per cent due to the coal strike.

Siam Protests French Action

Report French Forces Have Invaded Part Of Siam Annexed From Indo-China

BANGKOK, Siam, May 27.—(INS)—The Siam government claimed today that French forces have invaded eastern Siam from Indo-China, penetrating the region Siam annexed from Indo-China with Japanese approval during the war.

The transfer in territory was then viewed as the price Siam received for casting its lot with the Japanese in their campaign for hegemony over southeast Asia.

At the end of the war, however, the United States disclosed that the Siam double-crossed the Japanese by aiding allied agents.

In announcing the French action, Siam delivered notes of protest to the American and French legations in Bangkok and addressed an appeal to the United Nations.

At New York, the office of United Nations Secretary General Trygve Lie said early today it had not received any communication from Bangkok.

The Siamese charged the French invaded the Nakorn Phnom district just across the Mekong river, occupying the border town of Phaboo. Police and civilians were said to have resisted initially, and then retreated.

work. It also provides penalties against interference by union leaders with operation of government-seized facilities.

Shifts To Coal Strike

Mr. Truman shifted quickly from the now settled rail strike to the coal crisis which flared anew when the two-week strike broke ordered by Lewis expired at midnight Saturday.

The president called in his top labor advisers, Krug and Lewis. The half-hour conference ended, however, without comment from the government officials or the union leader.

Vice Admiral Ben Moreell deputy coal mines administrator, appealed to the miners to remain at work for the government while a contract is being negotiated.

Federal officials were not optimistic about the reception to Moreell's appeal. Some 250,000 miners failed to work for the full term of the truce, many refusing to return at all.

The government position is understood to be that it cannot offer the miners more in wage increases than the 18 1/2 cent hourly increase patterns established in steel, railroads and other major industries.

The government also was understood to have turned down Lewis' original welfare fund demand—a seven per cent levy on the industry's billion-dollar annual payroll to finance a union-collected fund.

The UMW chief, was said to have been offered a health and welfare fund but with details to be worked out by the Federal Social Security Board. The latter is understood to feel that the fund should be independent or jointly administered.

The choir was arranged on the stage, which was bordered with flowers and greens, and flanked by two American flags. Senior members of the group wore their gray caps and gowns, while the others wore the regular maroon choir robes. The class was seated in the center of the auditorium.

Each Has Contribution

In his sermon, Dr. McIlvaine stated that each person was different from every other person, and because of that, there was something he could do which no one else could do.

"If we fail to make our contribution, then there is something which will never be done—something which was meant to be done in the world."

If there are many people who think too highly of themselves, there are many more people who do not think highly enough, the speaker asserted. Doubt itself can be a cause of failure when success would otherwise be assured.

Need To Consider Others

"But what we also need are people who think more highly of others—we need more sensitivity in the world. How many people there are who do not accomplish anything because they have no one who expects something of them, no one to care, no one to show any interest. It is a glorious responsibility, helping that other person to make his contribution also."

Concluding his sermon, Dr. McIlvaine stressed the fact that faith is "rooted and crowned in God," and that faith in God is necessary if a man is to use all of his spiritual riches.

Preceding the service, Mrs. S. Glenn McCracken gave a brief oration which included "Toccata in D" by Gillette and "Sarabande" by Handel. For the processional of the seniors, she played Mendelssohn's "War March of the Priests" and for the recessional, Verdi's "Grand March from 'Aida'."

Choir Sings

During the baccalaureate, the choir sang the Call to Worship, the choral response to the invocation, Liszt's "Benedictus," "Father Most Holy" with Roy McClendon as soloist, and the choral benediction. Two songs by the congregation, "America, the Beautiful" and "Now the Day is Over", were included, and the service closed with the playing of Handel's Largo.

Commencement exercises for this class will be in the same auditorium Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, when 328 will receive diplomas. Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, president of Westminster college, will deliver the commencement address.

success . . . you must always remember that 'You Are Third,' God is first, your neighbor second, and you are third. If you keep this in mind, you will keep true to the meaning for as in the words of St. Paul, 'If you have no charity—you have nothing.'

Father Boley concluded: "In a world of today, where peace terms are discussed without mentioning the word of God, for fear of hurting other feelings—in such a world you are entering today to make your life. But always remember that when you enter such a world to take your place in society, to make your profession or business—you must be instrumental in helping Christ regain this world, which has forgotten him. Set fine examples for others, practice your faith. If you resolve to do your share for God and church you will have reached your goal in serving first, God, your fellowman, and yourself, and you will always be grateful to God and to your holy faith."

Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, triple-starred leader of the first B-29 raid on Tokyo, and his five co-investigators demanded equal breaks for enlisted men in matters running the gamut from food, clothing, quarters, retirement, advancement, justice, and women.

The board based its proposals on "gripes" collected from 42 representative witnesses, ranging from Gen. Dwight Eisenhower to Pvt. Marion "See Here" Hargrove, and 1,000 letters.

Board members, the majority of whom worked up from the ranks, traced the cause of poor relationships between officers and enlisted men in general to "undeniably poor leadership on the part of a small percentage" and "a system that encourages a wide official and social gap."

The board, created by Patterson on March 18, suggested as one step toward democratizing the army that officers be labeled just plain "soldiers" along with the men they command.

Recommendations Made
All staff sections of the war department already have begun study of the report recommending further that:

1. "All" military personnel be provided with a sense of security through equitable distribution of allowances for food, clothing, quarters and travel; pay increases in line with civilian salaries and assurance of chance for advancement.

2. In administration of military justice, the higher the rank the more severe the punishment; that enlisted personnel be permitted on courts, and that there be a review of all cases where wartime operations necessitated very strict handling.

3. Selection of officers be based upon one year in the enlisted ranks and knowledge of "human relations" under a new system providing for easy dismissal of privilege-abusing officers, promotions on a merit basis, and retirement after shorter periods of service.

4. GI's be enabled to accumulate leave or furlough time and be granted terminal leave pay on the same basis as commissioned personnel.

5. The use of discriminatory reference, such as "officers and their ladies; enlisted men and wives" be eliminated.

6. All military personnel be allowed, when off duty, to pursue normal social patterns "comparable to our democratic way of life."

7. The hand salute should be abandoned except army installations and off duty except under specified conditions.

8. That a system of decorations and awards be established to provide more equitable distribution and prohibit distribution to a degree tending to "cheapen" them.

9. The system for registering complaints be improved under a program possibly calling for reorganization of the inspector general's section.

10. All regulations and instructions be so written that they stipulate the limited "privileges" to officers in performance of duty to prohibit abuses of authority.

11. All statutes and traditions which discourage or forbid social association of soldiers of similar ages and tastes because of military rank be abolished.

12. Close contact and association with civilians be encouraged because the service is a "citizens' army."

13. Further study be made of the "caste" system to extract additional ideas for improving GI-officer relationships.

Dr. Hutchison Makes Address To Presbyterians

President Of Lafayette College Speaks At General Assembly Meeting

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 27.—(INS)—Dr. Ralph W. Hutchison, president of Lafayette college, maintained today that the United States faces a choice between expediency and being right.

"Politically, I believe we have sold out to expediency," he told the 158th General Assembly of the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A. "Our political parties are prone to determine their platform planks by a careful calculation of the vote which each may secure," he added.

"This attitude of the parties is inevitable, for it has been the attitude of the voters."

He urged the people to demand the principles of right and truth.

Dr. Hutchison also feared that this breakdown in America principle has been accomplished by persons who have learned to be "successful" in colleges without "being retarded by the impediments of moral principles."

"The church has deserted the college," he said, "at precisely the time when the church should have poured its redemptive message and power into the colleges."

He pointed out that the Catholic church is an exception.

Cook's Forest Site Of Film Battle Scene

PITTSBURGH, May 27.—Cook's Forest in northwestern Pennsylvania has been picked by Cecil B. DeMille, the movie producer, as the location site for his coming $3,000,000 picture, "Unconquered," which deals with the early history of this region. The book on which the photoplay will be based was written by Neil Swanson, one-time Pittsburgh newspaperman now working in Baltimore.

A crew of 68 technicians from the Paramount studio in Hollywood will begin descending on Cook's Forest late next week and actual shooting on the picture is slated to begin around June 7. The hundreds of extras needed for the background scenes will be recruited among residents in the vicinity of the state preserve.

One of the big scenes in "Unconquered" is the battle of Fort Pitt in the late eighteenth century, and this will be photographed in its entirety at Cook's Forest.

Gary Cooper and Paulette Goddard will be the stars of the movie, but they are not coming to Cook's Forest, it is understood. According to Paramount people who are already there making arrangements for the arrival of the troupe from the coast, most of the scenes involving Cooper and Miss Goddard can be done at the studio.

Whitney Declares Against Truman

Says His Union Will Battle Against Re-election Of President Truman

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(INS)—The railroad wage case brought a political repercussion today when A. P. Whitney, a leader in the two-day rail strike, declared that his union would spend the forty-seven million dollars in its treasury in an effort to defeat President Truman for reelection.

Whitney and Alvanley Johnston, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, were accused by Mr. Truman of "obscene arrogance" in his address to the joint session of Congress Saturday.

The union leader followed with a bitter attack on the President Sunday. Whitney prepared to leave for Cleveland after the government returned the railroads to private operation and removed drastic transportation restrictions.

Whitney asserted that the President had lost the support of labor by his handling of the strike and declared that "Truman never will be president again after 1948."

The trainman chief described Mr. Truman as "a political accident anyway and a one-term." He said he had a flock of telegrams from CIO and AFL leaders "denouncing the President's action of using the seizure weapon to break a valid strike."

"We are the world's richest labor organization," he added.

My board of directors already has authorized me to spend $2,500,000 to defeat the members of Congress who have voted for the shackling labor legislation Mr. Truman has proposed. I'm going to spend it where it will do the most good."

Johnston declined to comment.

Jewelers School To Be Opened Soon

Old Aiken School Building Transformed Into New School; Opening June 3

After months, weeks and days of planning, a school, which is unique in the fact that it is the only one of its kind in existence, is ready to open, and that is the New Castle Jewelers Training school, with headquarters in the old Aiken School building, on Pearson street.

The opening session of the school, according to an announcement, will be an announcement by Paul J. Chubbison, president and director of the school will be on Monday morning, June 3, when the first 48 students will begin an 18-month course in the manufacturing of jewelry from the crude metal up to the finished product, ready for the market.

The idea behind the school, which has been approved by the State of Pennsylvania and the Veterans' Administration, is to teach men, especially veterans, the intricate details of the jewelry manufacturing business.

A reporter found the old Aiken School building, in which he himself received his elementary education, in a very different condition than it was a number of years ago. No sign now of the low wooden desks, but long rows of benches, neatly fixed up with the necessary equipment for the manufacture of all types of jewelry and brightly illuminated.

As material and equipment arrive, three rooms are to be outfitted on the first floor of the building to accommodate 144 students, with the fourth room to be used as a laboratory where the finished products would be tested. Eventually, the entire building will be used.

Garden Notes

Spearmint tends to bloom and become worthless during mid-summer—just when needed most for iced drinks. To maintain a supply, cut half of the stems close to the ground in early June.

It is best to transplant celery when the soil is moist, since there will be less wilting of the foliage under such conditions.

Mulch soil around sweet peas with grass clippings or peat moss and keep well watered. Spray with sulphur to prevent mildew foliage for plant life and dust increasing.

The best time to cultivate is just when the weeds are breaking through the soil surface. At this time the root of the weeds are small and do not have much of a hold in the soil.

For best results from a rhubarb bed the harvest period should not be longer than 8 or 10 weeks. The stalks should be pulled, not cut, and the leaf blades cut off.

Timing is the most important item in the spray or dust program for pest control. Insects should be attacked before they become numerous.

F. B. I. Is Battling Huge Crime Wave

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The FBI, whose brilliant work helped defeat our enemies, again is up to its ears striving to stem the tide of domestic crime that has overtaken this "land of the free and home of the brave."

America is experiencing a crime wave of proportions never known before. Last year more than 1,500,000 major crimes were committed; this representing one major crime for each 84 persons in the U. S. A.

The primary cause of this is not the hardened criminals who murder, burn, steal and rape; nor yet is it the forgers and other rings whose evil efforts prey upon citizens from coast to coast. These criminals constitute serious problems as always; but the gravest concern is juvenile delinquency.

In an interview, John Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, told this correspondent:

Experience Is Contrary
"During the war years I thought that once peace came the men and women of the F. B. I. would be relieved of the pressure of wartime. Our experience has been exactly the contrary. For crime is on the upswing and whether or not we can check it remains to be seen."

"It is fundamental that in periods of great national stress such as we have experienced, human nature should react to the tempo of the times. There was the spirit of wartime abandon, for example, with its last thing philosophy which provided justification to less resolute will to violate the convention of society."

"The youths of today have more information at their fingertips, have lived more and mentally are far advanced over the youths of any other generation; but physically and spiritually they are to be pitied."

Fault Lies In Home
"More and more I am convinced that the fault lies directly in the home. Parental responsibility is no longer in style. This causes me to suggest that a new approach is necessary; in the past when a youngster committed a crime, he alone was held responsible and was sent to a reform school, a foster home or to put on probation."

"The time has come when parents should be held responsible not only for their own conduct but to society, for juvenile delinquency does not occur until adults first become delinquent."

There are over 100 federal laws or statutes which give the G-men all the authorization they need to track down and bring to the courts of justice every type of criminal in all section of the country. These statutes, the violations of which become the immediate business of the FBI concern and include:

1. Anarchy.
2. Illegal use of government property.
3. Anti-trust acts.
4. Bribery of federal officers.
5. Fraud in federal election.
6. Intimidation of witnesses.
7. Theft from inter-state shipment (hi-jacking).
8. Bank robbery.
9. National stolen property act.
10. National motor vehicles theft act (which includes airplanes).
11. Assaulting or killing federal officers.
12. White slave traffic act.
13. Kidnapping.

SOME LABOR GAINS Under New Deal May Now Be Lost

LONDON Times Comments On Irresponsibility Of Few Wild Union Leaders

LONDON, May 27.—(INS)—The London Times said today the "irresponsibility of a few wild union leaders" may cost American labor some of the gains it won under the New Deal.

The newspaper commented editorially on U. S. strikes by saying that "what must have been most alarming to Washington was that this new industrial unrest tended inevitably to diminish the effectiveness of American participation in world affairs."

An editorial in the Manchester Guardian commented on the fact that some American leaders oppose a loan for Britain on the ground that England is headed toward being a "slave state." The newspaper added:

"If we are managing things a little more decorously and prosaically than the great American republic, we have at least avoided this far the anarchy of the great railroad and coal strikes."

Expect Little Coal Production During Week

Soft Coal Miners In Pennsylvania Fail To Return To Mines

PITTSBURGH, May 27.—(INS)—Undaunted by draft threats and possible loss of state employment compensation soft coal miners in western Pennsylvania continued to remain away from the pits today after personal intervention by President Truman failed to bring about a settlement in the bitter bituminous dispute.

An early survey showed that most of the 56,000 miners failed to report for work at the district's government-controlled collieries. Heavy rainfall washed out most of the strip mining operations.

In West Virginia some miners reported for work but were sent home because of the lack of coal cars.

With Thursday Memorial holiday breaking up the work week, coal operators gloomily predicted little production this week, regardless of the outcome of the Washington negotiations.

United Nations Collapse Would Invite Disaster

PITTSBURGH, May 27.—(INS)—Secretary of State Paul A. Acheson today warned that the collapse of the United Nations would only invite further disaster in an already chaotic world.

Lashing out at the critics of the UN who have expressed dismay at the current disputes in the International Council, Acheson declared that since the surrender of Germany notable strides toward building a co-operative world society have been accomplished. He said: "To any one who expected a complete change in the nature of man and his governments, immediately upon cessation of the war I say that that kind of miracle is not accomplished by hope alone. Miracles are wrought by faith."

The secretary said it was the "sober truth" that our civilization has managed to survive two global wars in a generation and it is unlikely it can survive another such conflict.

He reviewed the relationships between Canada and America and maintained we have had "our differences of opinion" but we have settled our differences and adjusted our disputes by the reasonable process of discussion, adding:

"The great fact of our association in these matters is that the measures we have agreed upon have worked."

"Our several histories have proven conclusively that disputes and differences which have led other nations and groups of nations into war, can be reconciled and arbitrated with satisfaction to both sides."

This was accomplished, he said, even though America has chosen a republic form of government and Canada pledges allegiance to a king.

The secretary reminded the critics that in a year's time the UN has banded together 51 nations to settle international disputes by peaceful means.

Martin spoke before the International Association of Sales and Advertising Clubs, convened in Pittsburgh.

Foreign problems could be solved, but Washington is afraid to offend other nations; domestic problems could be solved, but Washington is afraid—oh, what's the use?

Colleges Raise Tuition Charges

PITTSBURGH, May 27.—(INS)—Two Pittsburgh district colleges today had set an increase in tuition costs and a third was considering a raise.

Carnegie Tech will boost its tuition fee $25 a semester in the colleges of engineering and science and fine arts, effective next fall.

The Pennsylvania college for Women will increase its rates $50 and $25 for tuition and dormitory costs, it was announced.

St. Vincent's college, in Latrobe, considered an increase of $20 a semester beginning either this summer or next fall.

The rates at Pitt, Duquesne, Mt. Mercy and Washington and Jefferson will remain the same, it was reported.

If scientists had to cook and keep house, they'd soon invent a way to do it all by pressing a button.
